NO BRITON IS TO STARVE

Premier Explains Loaning Policy to Stimulate Manufacturing

London, Oct. 20.—Following closely upon the British government's announced determination to aid in solving the unemployment situation by the extension of extraordinarily large credits and the declaration that no Briton is to starve, David Lloyd-George, the prime minister, delivered a notable address in Parliament yesterday outlining the government's policy both with regard to trade and unemployment.

The Premier declared that the entire situation was the result of the World War and that a good understanding between nations together with trade rehabilitation was the essential remedy.

In outlining the government's proposals to alleviate unemployment, Mr. Lloyd-George made the following striking declaration:

Peace and a good understanding among the nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where if you talk about a German without a crown on your brow you are not a patriot. Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you intervene to make peace, your motives are misunderstood; but if Great Britain will not do it, who will? We stand for stability. We want to see the nations begin again the tasks of peace.

Mr. Lloyd-George spiritedly justified the steps the government already had taken to meet the unemployment problem. He said the government proposed conditionally to guarantee interest on loans aggregating 25,000,000 pounds for use in capital undertakings, providing employment or for the purchase of material for manufacturers, and also to allocate 10,000,000 pounds for the assistance of relief work, and later the establishment of a fund for workers' dependence.

He also promised further assistance for state aided emigration of former service men; the allocation of 10,000,000 pounds for relief work in forestry and drainage.

Concerning proposed guarantees of interest on loans raised by any dominion or colonial governments or any foreign government or local authorities, for essential enterprises, such as electrification and waterways which would provide immediate employment in the United Kingdom, the Premier explained that the total liability of the government would be 25,000,000 pounds, and that a committee of men of high authority and knowledge would be created to administer the scheme.

MUST NOT SURRENDER

by Courageous Congress Says
Kansas Governor

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 20.—The whole nation is aroused and will insist that the Government shall not surrender to the railroad unions as in 1916, said Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, in a statement yesterday discussing the impending railroad strike. He added: "A frightened Congress in 1916 passed a law in three days which prevented a general strike by abject surrender to the threats of the four American brotherhoods. A courageous Congress in this hour could in three days pass a just law creating a Federal tribunal, before which the laboring man might receive justice without warring upon the public."

DISAPPEARING DETOURS

Restrictions on Traffic About Bennington Being Removed

The selectmen announced today that it was now possible to travel by automobile from the village to the Mt. Anthony club golf course by the way of Depot street. The new surface put upon the Meachbrook bridge has sufficiently "cured" it to permit the passage of cars.

Sunday the road will be open for traffic by the way of Depot street to North Bennington when the new concrete structure replacing the Governor Robinson bridge will be in shape for use. The last of the concrete curbing is being built on North street which will probably be closed at the lower end for a few days more.

MAY TRACE BOMB
MAKER BY LETTER
TO AMBASSADORContained Threat to Kill By
"Scientific" Method

HERRICK IS UNDISTURBED

U. S. Representative in Paris
Attending to Duties as Usual Today

Paris, Oct. 20 (By the Associated Press)—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador, went to his office at the American embassy this morning as usual, apparently little affected by his narrow escape yesterday when a bomb exploded in a room at his home. French experts, who have been examining several hundred letters sent recently to the ambassador have discovered one which they believe may furnish a strong clue in tracing the maker of the bomb. This letter was addressed to the ambassador personally and was received by him October 14. It contained a threat to kill him "by scientific means" which the writer declared he had in his possession.

Paris, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—A bomb exploded yesterday in the house of Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador, seriously injuring the valet who opened the package containing it. The room in which the explosion occurred was wrecked. Ambassador Herrick arrived at the house two minutes after the bomb blew up.

The receipt of the bomb followed threatening letters which have been coming to the embassy since the reported conviction of two Italians in a Massachusetts city for murder.

The package containing the bomb was addressed to Ambassador Herrick.

The valet, however, happened to see the package and opened it to save Mr. Herrick the trouble. It was during the afternoon that the package was delivered. The explosion occurred in the bathroom of the ambassador's suite.

The bomb was brought from the chancellery of the embassy by a secretary who thought it a personal present for the ambassador.

Ambassador Herrick and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Parmely W. Herrick, and her son, age seven years, were mounting the stairs to the suite and heard the explosion. Immediately the valet came rushing down crying: "A bomb has exploded. 'I am hit.'"

In the room, and demolished with it, were a number of presents Ambassador Herrick had received on the occasion of his birthday, Oct. 9.

The ambassador described the outrage as the most heinous sign of excitement.

"The act was that of an irresponsible coward who was without courage to come out into the open," he said.

HARDING GIVEN LL.D.

liam and Mary, Second
Oldest College

Williamsburg, Va., Oct. 20.—President Harding received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the college of William and Mary yesterday at exercises of installation of Dr. J. A. C. Chandler as president.

In cap and gown Mr. Harding, in an address, appealed for increased patriotic attention to the national educational system and praised the part played in American history by the institution. It is the second oldest college of the country, and among its graduates has had three Presidents of the United States.

Delegates attended the William and Mary exercises from all colleges in the country more than 100 years old. Honorary degrees also were conferred on Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for President in 1904, and on Gov. Westmoreland Davis of Virginia.

President Harding, in robes, headed the procession around the campus prior to the exercises, which were held in the alcove of the Wren Building, the oldest college hall in the country and in daily use. It was built in 1694.

Later he went to Jamestown, the site of the first English settlement in America, and placed a wreath on the grave of Gov. Yardley, who in 1613 called the first legislative assembly on this continent.

ELIOT LIKES SWISS
MILITARY SYSTEMProminent Educator Aspects No Nation Can Dispense Entirely With Armed Forces.

Boston, Oct. 20.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, addressing the Economic Club Tuesday said he regarded the forth coming conference on limitation of armament, said that no nation could dispense with a military force, "not for offense or aggression, but for its own uses."

"We need, however," he continued, "to consider carefully what method there is for maintaining a limitation of armament with which shall go the destruction of militarism. Unless this conference comes to an agreement which will include the destruction of militarism as the controlling element in government and the destruction accordingly of a professional military class, we shall get no improvement."

"There is in the world one method of maintaining an armed force for defensive purposes, a very efficient force, and at the same time destroying the military class in a nation. It is, of course, the Swiss method of maintaining an armed force for use at any moment, always ready to go to war, but always ready to call."

Dr. Eliot pointed out that the essential thing in the Swiss method was universal military training based on universal physical training, and advocated universal physical training in all schools and colleges of this country.

"Limitation of armament," he said, "seems to me the only promising outcome of the conference. That is a little different from reduction, because it implies a continuousness. How can any of the small nations feel secure for the future unless the conference results in an international agreement or limitation for armament covering a long period of years?"

"A fundamental question is, shall there be any coercive force behind the agreement? That is a fair question for discussion. Our own people are divided on that subject. Let us reassess ourselves somewhat by remembering that in either way, international limitation of armament, with or without force, or without a world force, and power to direct the use of that force, good results can be obtained through the conference."

"To my way of thinking the agreement with a coercive power behind it would be more hopeful than the other. And also in my own view either determination by the conference itself should be accepted and vigorously supported by the whole body of our people. We should come to this conference with the utmost good will and the firmest determination to make the international agreement capable of preserving peace in the world."

Spanish Licorice Industry.

The manufacture of licorice extract and paste is an important Spanish industry. This is a comparatively new industry, as formerly the root was exported manufactured. Over 6,000,000 pounds of the root were exported in 1918 and more than 800,000 pounds of extract and paste.—Brooklyn Eagle.

LABOR BOARD IN SESSION

Federation President McGrath
Declares Many Roads Have Violated Decisions

Chicago, Oct. 20 (By the Associated Press)—Chiefs of the big four Brotherhoods and the switchmen's union arrived here this morning and went into conference preparatory to the meeting in the afternoon with the railroad labor board.

All were optimistic at union headquarters where there was strongly in evidence a feeling that there would be no strike unless something unexpected happened to disrupt the conference in the afternoon.

Eleven "standard" unions marked time, awaiting the outcome of the labor board meeting. While a few of the general chairman met to discuss strike plans, the majority crowded the room in which the hearing of the labor board was being held for the purpose of seeing the Pennsylvania road cited for failure to obey the order of the board.

J. C. McGrath, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor (six federated crafts) declared before the board sitting on the Pennsylvania case that a strike seemed to him to be certain. Twenty-two railroads, McGrath said, had violated board decisions and the men are insistent upon walking out.

New York, Oct. 20 (By the Associated Press)—Proceeding as though they expected a failure of efforts of the railroad labor board to prevent the threatened strike by conference in Chicago with Brotherhood representatives, the eastern railroad presidents met in conference here today to lay plans to meet strike conditions on eastern and New England railroads. The Pennsylvania and Erie roads are advertising in the newspapers for men to work on these lines in event of a strike.

VALUES HUSBAND AT
MILLION DOLLARSAlienation Suit Brought against Mr.
and Mrs. L. E. Woodhouse
by Son's Wife.

Burlington, Oct. 19.—A suit to recover $1,000,000 for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Charles Douglas Woodhouse, was filed in Chittenden County court Tuesday by Dorritt Van Deusen Stevens Woodhouse against Lorenzo E. Woodhouse and Mary Kennedy Woodhouse, parents of the plaintiff's husband.

The specifications allege that the plaintiff has been the wife of Charles D. Woodhouse since September 29, 1918, and that she lived with him happily at Long Branch, N. J.

She alleges that her husband's parents attempted to entice their son to leave the plaintiff without support and go with them to Florida leaving the young Mrs. Woodhouse in Long Island, N. Y., or at any other place she might be pleased to go but refusing to allow her to accompany her husband.

She also claims that between February, 1919, and March 1, 1920, the elder Woodhouses continued the unlawful use of their wealth in the attempt to control the plaintiff's husband through depriving him of his income, he never having been trained to support himself.

A further allegation is that the Woodhouses tried to poison the mind of their son against his wife by an effort to convince him that his marriage with the plaintiff was a menace which should be broken off. It is stated in the allegations that they even encouraged his attentions to other women, notably to Lillian Hendrick McClellan of Washington, D. C., between whom and the plaintiff's husband they sought to encourage an alliance.

It is also alleged that the defendants urged the plaintiff's husband to visit them at their home in Burlington, New York and at White Sulphur Springs, Va., and without his wife, seeking to bring about an estrangement between the younger Woodhouses.

The Woodhouses are of the well known banking family of this city and are reputed to be among the wealthiest people in Burlington.

ARLINGTON PICNIC

Work and Play at the New Schoolhouse Saturday.

The Building Committee on the new high school is looking for volunteers to help clean and grade around the new school building. The day appointed is Saturday, Oct. 22nd. This will be in the form of a community picnic, and all are cordially invited, with their families. The men are asked to come at seven a. m. and to bring a shovel, pick or crow bar.

The ladies of the village will be put up an old fashioned family basket lunch so all can eat at noon. Coffee will be served on the grounds free. Any that desire to bring extra portions of beans, pies, and sandwiches may do so and help those who will not be furnished with lunch.

The ladies of the village will be present to help arrange the tables, which will be in the basement of the building and get ready for the noon lunch. Owners of several teams have promised to donate a day's work, and anyone else who desires to do this and has not been asked will be welcomed and his help appreciated.

It is very important that this work be done before the ground freezes, and unless all those interested come Saturday it will be impossible to finish in time and have the ground suitable for winter use. It is expected enough work will be done Saturday so that the ground may be left over until spring and then grading can be completed. Therefore, let all turn out and make this a success.

JAIL BREAKERS
TO BE RETURNED
TO BENNINGTONLackey and Grogan now Held in Massachusetts

RELATE STORY OF ESCAPE

Lackey Carried away Padlock
Staple as Souvenir of Escapade

It is understood that some official from the Sheriff's department will leave today for Watertown, Mass., for the purpose of returning to the jurisdiction of the state of Vermont, William Lackey and John Grogan, who were held at the county jail here charged with burglary at East Dorset and who escaped Sunday afternoon. The boys were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Watertown policemen. It appears that the boys are residents of Cambridge, Mass., and until recently attended the Rindge Technical school. Lackey is a ward of the state of Massachusetts and has been living with Robert Kane of Cambridge. Grogan is a son of Michael Grogan of the same city.

According to the story told the police at Watertown, Lackey sold score cards at the Harvard-Holy Cross football game on October 1 and secured $27. Instead of turning the money in, the police assert, he and Grogan started out to give the world the "once over" and the next day they started for Vermont, their destination being East Dorset where Lackey once lived with a farmer. They were taken into custody in Troy as vagrants and released the next day.

It was soon after they arrived at East Dorset, on the night of October 7, that the boys broke into the small building occupied by two Italians employed as switchmen on the Rutland railroad and stole Italian currency valued at nearly three hundred dollars and some personal property. According to Lackey, the pair left East Dorset immediately after the robbery and went into New York state where they were arrested and Lackey was given 10 days in jail for carrying a pocket gun and Grogan was held as a delinquent.

The boys were turned over to the Vermont authorities by the sheriff of Washington county and were lodged in jail here last week. Because of the fact that both claimed to be under 16 years of age they could not be confined behind bars and therefore became "guests" of Jailor and Mrs. Arthur A. Russell. This freedom from restraint facilitated their escape.

Lackey told the Watertown police that Sunday afternoon he and Grogan walked into the hall at the Bennington county courthouse building, broke a panel in a door leading into the main corridor and walked out of the front door. By appealing to automobile drivers they managed to reach Cambridge Monday night and slept comfortably in the collar at the home where Lackey had been living when the boys started on their escapade.

Tuesday morning they started for Watertown clad in some long overcoats owned by Robert Kane, with whom Lackey had been living. The coats were of heavy material, as Mr. Kane is a driver for a Cambridge business concern and is exposed to all kinds of weather. They visited a boy friend in Watertown and when the boy's mother sighted the long coats she became suspicious and notified the police.

After being taken into custody Lackey displayed a clipping taken from the Evening Banner describing the break at the local jail. He also showed one of the big staples taken from the locks to the jail corridor and which he said he had carried away as a souvenir.

BOTTLE BEAR MADE

Mauled, Clawed and Bitten
By Her Pet

North Adams, Mass., Oct. 20.—Mauled, clawed and bitten by a pet bear, Mrs. Mason Johnson of Somerset, Vt., is in the local hospital in a serious condition. Both of her legs were badly bitten. The bear was one which Mr. Johnson caught when a cub and had raised on a bottle.

Tuesday noon Mrs. Johnson went out in the yard to feed the bear, and the animal attacked her, throwing her to the ground and tearing off her clothing. Her screams were heard by William Turner, who was in his yard across from the Johnson home and he beat off the bear and rescued Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. Johnson was away at work but was hurriedly summoned and when he arrived home he shot the animal. Mrs. Johnson was brought to the local hospital, where her painful injuries were dressed by Dr. Wright of Readsboro, assisted by several local physicians.

Other Mechanism Is Explained to Visitors

Wednesday was the big day at the local exchange in the observance of Telephone week of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. The employees kept "open house" at the exchange during the afternoon and evening when, with the assistance of officials, they acted as hosts to visiting subscribers and other interested persons and showed the details of the operation of the switchboard and other apparatus in the plant.

Not only did the employees put in the afternoon and evening in demonstration but there was other evidence of the company to make its patrons acquainted with the methods of handling telephone calls and of transacting the business of the exchange. There were posters of a descriptive nature in the main office and some literature was distributed.

Many of the visitors Wednesday witnessed the process for the first time and showed a large amount of interest. A switchboard is a complicated piece of mechanism and the speed with which the skilled operators received and disposed of calls was a wonderful demonstration to the uninitiated.

EVIDENT DEPRESSION
IN BOOZE RUNNINGNot So Much Hard Liquor Being Smuggled into Vermont
From Canada

Burlington, Oct. 20.—There is no question in the opinion of both the dry enforcement officers and the customs officials that there has been a big falling off in the amount of intoxicating liquor which is being smuggled in from Canada. There have been no arrests of booze runners in either department for more than a week.

The slackening up in the business is attributed to several causes. In the first place the new Canadian law which places the sale of distilled liquors in the hands of the government is thought to have done much to stop the smuggling of large quantities of liquor. No longer can it be purchased by the case and it takes a long time to accumulate one of the loads of former days when liquor is purchased by the individual bottle.

Another factor in the case is thought to be the business depression. No longer is there a ready market for the "short" Canadian quarts at $5 and $10 a bottle. People are not getting the money and cannot spend it. The business depression has done much to slow up the rum traffic.

$700 VERDICT AGAINST
TOWN OF MARLBOROEstate of Walter Stetson, Killed in Automobile Accident, Recovers Damages

Battleboro, Oct. 20.—After considering the evidence several hours the jury in Windham county court at Newfane Monday night returned a verdict for the plaintiff to recover $700 in the accident damage case of Fred Cressy of Battleboro, administrator of the Walter Stetson estate of Halifax, against the town of Marlboro.

The plaintiff sued for $3000 because of the death of Mr. Stetson, who was killed when his automobile went off a bridge in Marlboro and fell several feet on some rocks in a brook. The plaintiff claimed the town was negligent in not providing suitable railing while the defense denied this and claimed the evidence showed that there was contributory negligence.

The verdict apparently was a compromise, as the general sentiment is that the town either was not liable at all or the estate was entitled to more than $700. Attorney F. E. Barbour appeared for the estate and Attorneys E. W. Gibson and M. P. Maurice for the town.

The Swallow Dive.

Some boys were being given instruction in diving. The particular lesson was on the swallow dive. "Now, Jenkins," said the instructor to the most backward pupil, "you take a turn." Jenkins made a hopeless attempt and created an alarming splash. "That's not a swallow dive," said the instructor. "Isn't it?" gurgled the unfortunate Jenkins. "Why, I thought I had swallowed the whole pool!"
